

Healing Light

You shine your light upon me
Patiently leading me to see
The pain I bring upon myself
You shine your healing light on me
So gently, and suddenly I see
The broken idols cluttering up my life

*Will you blow away
The shame that clouds my mind?
Will you throw away
The things that fill my heart instead of you?
I long to feel your touch and know your heart of grace
Restore me, reclaim me as your own
I worship you*

You shine your light upon me
Patiently reminding me to see
The love you bring into my life
You shine your healing light on me
So gently, and gradually I see
True freedom's path to joy and health and life

Will you blow away...

I worship you

Words and Music by Monique Lisbon
© MonoMusic 1998

This song comes from the CD and songbook
Refuge
(© MonoMusic 1999)

To order this product,
click here