

Broken Stones

You hear our lies, you see our failure
And yet you still forgive us
Our treasured dreams lie crushed around us
Yet we kneel down in the dust to praise you

*So take these shattered lives
And heal our wounded hearts
And build your Kingdom with broken stones of pain*

Our shallow words, our proud pretences
Betray our empty promises
And yet you show your great compassion
And now from our shame your mercy rises

You take these shattered lives...

Words and Music by Monique Lisbon
© MonoMusic 2000

This song comes from the CD and songbook
Scars of Grace
(© MonoMusic 2000)

To order this product,
click here